The DIMMER VIEW

Old Newspaper Problem Solved

With so many good suggestions coming from scientists regarding the use of waste newsprint, it would naturally follow that a journalist would supply the solution to the problem.

Martin L. Libson, writing in the current issue of QUILL, the monthly publication of Sigma Delta Chi, the national professional journalistic society, took a slightly tilted look at the care and consideration of used newsprint. Gibson, advisor to the SDX chapter of the Department of Journalism at the North Texas State University, had this to say:

"It is difficult, if not downright impossible, to comprehend what goes on in the minds of the world's scientists.

"Their goals, as many will testify, include the salvation of mankind, which on the surface seems laudable enough. However, those of us hardened by years of exposure to such scientific advances as plastic garden hose, ball point pens and television have our moments of doubt about the value of science.

"Perhaps it is being overcautious, but I find much to be wary of in the work being done at Penn State University. Some dedicated scientists there have learned that they can make cattle gain weight by feeding them ground-up newspapers flavored with molasses.

"This is fine. One of the world's pressing problems right now is how to get rid of old newspapers. If we can get cattle to do it for us while growing steak, that's two birds with one stone.

"Great.

"Along these same lines, the Penn State scientists say that cattle also thrive on "red tide", an abnoxious, odoriferous, sometimes poisonous little organism that grows in great abundance off the coast of California. If the cows can eat that stuff, that's two more birds with one more stone.

"Great again.

"But I'm still worried.

"I'm worried because no scientist worthy of his white smock will stop with cattle. He must press on. These guys start with rats and then go to guinea pigs and then to rabbits and maybe a goat or two. Then in some cases they try their handiwork on a cow or a chimpanzee.

"Guess what comes after the chimpanzee.

"That's right.

"And if these scientist have their way, we'll all be dining on the want ads, with a spot of red tide as dessert.

"As things stand right now, they had to stop with cows because cows have an extra stomach that lets them break down the high cellulose content of newspapers so it can be digested. Some clever young man no doubt will either figure out a way to give a man an extra stomack or think of a way to break down the paper before man chomps down on it.

"Either way, the implications for the national economy are staggering. As scon as newspapers and red tide catch on, the restaurant and grocery businesses will be wiped out. News vendors will become millionaries. Editors will again strive mightily to see that their news is in good taste. The country editor will no longer have to take his belt up another notch every winter; if he can't collect for ads, he can at least avoid starvation as long as his paper stock holds out.

"The going price for local newspapers in most parts of the country is a dime. Another dime for molasses and say a nickel's worth of red tide would give you all the nourishment of a choice steak for 25 cents.

"Next time you are in the butcher shop, ask the butcher to show you a quarter's worth of steak.

"Many details remain to be cleaned up, of course. There are such things as whether newspaper boys must have a food handler's license. Protein content and the amount of artificial flavoring will have to be listed somewhere, probably on page 1. Paper mills will have to be inspected for cleanliness.

"Once the paper is in the home, families will have to make a decision on who gets to eat what. Junior will want the sports section because it's crunchier. Mom may ask fo rthe women's pages (especially if they are printed on low calorie skim newsprint). What happens though, if Dad absolutely refuses to swallow another editorial?

"These scientists have let themselves in for more problems than they realize. They may be sorry someday when the newspaper boy goes by and they have to go out and get their supper down off the roof or fish it out of the bushes."

Freeloaders Get Bigger Benefits

What does your income tax money pay for?

That's a normal question since you have just faced your annual federal income tax bill.

Since everybody is yelling for equality and Constitutional Rights — let's see where the taxpayer is being discriminated against.

Uncle Suger let's the guy who pays the bills an allowance of $600 a year to feed, clothe, house and educate a youngster. It's called a deduction on the IRS form.

Yet to feed, clothe, house and educate a youngster in your Federal Government Job Corps you spend from $7,000 to $11,000 depending on whether the student sticks around or become a dropout.

Uncle Sugar, who allows only $600 for the taxpayers' child, has set $1,200 a year minimal for the upkeep of a child under the Cuban refugee program. He allows another $1,000 a year if the youngster is attending school.

Uncle Sugar, who allows only $600 for the taxpayers' child, sets $2,300 a year as the cost of care and upkeep of a lawbreaker within the confines of the austere Fderal prison . . . and the prisoner can't borrow Dad's car. How does Uncle Sugar expect Mom and Dad to do the job on one fourth the amount he says it costs him to keep his charges?

Uncle Sugar, in your VISTA program, Volunteers in Service to America, spent $3.1 million last year to turn out only 202 trainees. It costs him $15,000 a year to maintain one youth in the VISTA program. It looks like he's shortchanging the bill-footing homefolks.

Uncle Sugar gives the mother of an illegitimate child $8,000 a year for upkeep, under the Aid to Dependent Children program. He permits parents of a legitimate child only $600 tax deduction.

It has always been a cause of wonderment why taxpayers don't organize to fight off the government taking the money he earns to give it to those who don't work. Yet, hundreds of organizations have sprung up across the nation to resist any attempt to reduce the giveaways and to battle for increased subsidies.

These organizations are made up of, naturally, those who are getting the free ride.

D.A. Challeges Registration Of Otay Water Dist. Director

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — Ralph W. Chapman, a director of the Otay Municipal Water District and district spokesman at a recent hearing, has had his voting registration challenged by District Attorney James Don Keller.

Keller, in a civil acion, seeks to compel Registrar of Voters Charles J. Sexton to remove Chapman's name from the register. Keller's complaint charges that Chapman is registered at 201 Lakeview in Spring Valley, but resides at 4499 Calavo dr., in Calavo Gardens.

The issue was raised at the meeting of the Local Agency Formation Commission which resulted in permission for Calavo Gardens to be annexed to Otay Municipal Water District, rather than to the Spring Valley Sanitation District, for sewer service.

Chapman, who spoke for Otay, started to answer the charge by saying that he has four residences, but was cut off by the commission which said where Chapman lives was not a concern with of the commission.

Keller told County News Assn., "Our investigation showed to our complete satisfaction that our facts are correct. He may come up with something different."

Chapman was elected to the board in 1962 and reappointed by the board of supervisors for another term on the basis of no opposition.

Keller said the next step in the suit is for a pre-trial conference.

Chapman, in answer to the complaint, said only that he had not been served and has no information or belief sufficient to answer.

Sexton said the law provides he can remove Chapman's name in this instance only by order of the superior court.

City Council Fails To Aid Tax Relief Says Dent

County Supervisor Robert Dent attacked San San Diego City officials for failure to support a County proposal to provide tax relief for all County property taxpayers.

In a letter to the City Council, Dent pointed out that the San Diego County Board of Supervisors has provided the leadership in seeking adoption of AB-149, a property tax relief proposal by Assemblyman John Veneman (R-Modesto). According to Dent, AB-149 would provide $9 million in direct tax relief to the property

Van Deerlin Asks Top Priority On Spring Valley Drainage Area

Strong support for flood protection in the Spring Valley Creek drainage area — including problemsome Brookside Homes, was given Wednesday by Congressman Lionel Van Deerlin.

His support was presented at the Corps of Engineers hearing in San Diego on proposed flood control projects.

Supervisor Bob Dent, in whose district the area is, expressed pleasure that the federal government, through Van Deerlin, had begun to show interest in the flood problem the supervisors have been tussling with for several years.

Van Deerlin said top priority should be given the Spring Valley Creek area. More than 30,000 persons are at the mercy of the elements there, he said.

He said the November, 1965 flood did $94,000 damage to homes in the flood plaine, and that a 1.74 inch rainfall in March sent water coursing down the creek at the dangerous rate of 650 cubic feet a second.

The system of ditches on which citizens must now rely to remove the runoff from moderate-to-heavy rains has proven itself totally inadequate to the task, he said. Meanwhile, pending construction of a more efficient system, the County must spend upwards of $10,000 a year to maintain the existing natural channels.

The young wheel chair worker who is a "very efficient electrical appliance repairman," according to A. J. Sutherland, at left above, president of the charitable organization, received the Jessop perpetual trophy in addition to a number of gifts. Riot Problems Dialogue Saturday Night In Lakeside

"Alternatives to Riot," will be the topic of the Open Door for Dialogue program on Saturday, at 9906 Maine ave., Lakeside at 8 p.m.

Sgt. George Dodson of the San Diego Sheriff's Department will speak about riot prevention and containment from the point of view of local law enforcement agencies.

These agencies are justifiably concerned over rumors that arms are being stockpiled on both sides of the White-Black Curtain.

Riots seem to be fashionable in most civilized parts of the world. The question is constantly asked, "What shall we do if a riot occurs in our town?"

Historically, that is an almost academic question in San Diego, but the potential is here both on the many campuses and in San Diego's sprawling Negro and Mexican-American ghetto.

Ex-hippie To Give Bible Presbyterian Talk Sunday

The Bible Presbyterian Church in Lemon Grove will have a former hippie as guest speaker at their Sunday morning 11 a.m. service.

The former hippie, Peter R. Neuhoff will talk to young members of the church at their Matate Fall Ranch Retreat, east of El Cajon, Friday and Saturday.

Neuhoff is a student for the ministry at Highland College in Pasadena. He studied for close to four years at Peabody College in Nashville, Tenn. before dropping out of school.

He says, "By the time I was 23 I had been Joe College, anti-Joe College, an alcoholic, a fornicator, an adulterer, a criminal, a mental patient, a drop-out, and last of all a hippie, drugged-out and depleted.

I charged around from one philosophy and one bag to another. But now I didn't care about philosophy.

I was ready to crawl away and die . . . but thank God who is longsuffering and merciful. He allowed for me to hear the Gospel, that Jesus the Son of God had tasted death and condemnation for every man on the cross of calvary, and with His blood had bought eternal salvation . . ."

Rev. Bryant of the local church has heard Mr. Neuhoff and highly recommends him to parents and youth that they might gain needed insight into the hippie philosophy.

Proposition 2 Matches Local And State Funds

California's junior colleges will get matching state funds for building construction if voters approve a special $65 million bond issue on the June 4 primary ballot.

With construction needs for the state's community colleges running from $50 million to $70 million per year the bond issue, identified as Proposition 2, will give substantial relief to local property taxpayers.

In San Diego County, it is estimated that construction needs will be well above $2 million per year for the next three years. It is expected that at least half of this cost will be met by state funds with he bond issue's passage.

California depends heavily on the two-year community colleges to absorb high school graduates entering higher education, with the greater share of financing building and sites traditionally left to local property owners through year liberal acts colleges and other types of institutions. Of the $380 million invested in buildings on junior college taxes.

Facilities for two-year colleges cost less per student to build than do those for four-campuses in California in the last ten years, only $80 million has come from State funds. Junior colleges enroll twice the combined enrollments of state colleges and the various campuses of the University of California.

Currently two-year colleges house over a half-million students now, with a million students expected to be enrolled within ten years as the state relis mor havily on th junior colleges to assume a major responsibility for lower division education under the California Master Plan for Higher Education.

Monarchs Place Third At League Track Finals

The Grossmont League Track Finals were held last Friday for the first time ever at Monte Vista with the Monarchs placing third.

In the Class A division, Dave Carter ran to the only victory for the Monarchs — that coming in the two mile. Dave's victory posed quite a problem for the officials however.

Dave nearly lapped a man while he was going to the finish tape. The officials had a rough time in getting the tape up late enough for the slower man to pass and still early enough for Davie to break it.

It worked out all right though and Dave beat the man in second place by 21 seconds.

In Class B, Bill Thompson took second in the 660. Joe Mears missed second place by 3/10 of a second and had to settle for a second in the 1320. Wayne Comfort placed second in the high jump.

In Class A, the Monarchs were third. The B Monarch squad placed sixth and the C Monarchs captured fourth.

Net Men Post 10-4 Record

Recording a 10-4 record, the Monte Vista met men posted their best seasonal record ever at the Monarchy. Although they lost to Grossmont in tthe season finale, the Monarchs scored 9¼ to the Foothillers 18¾. The Monarchs' score was the most made against Grossmont in the Foothillers last 110 matches. The Monarchs finished in third place for the season.

Aquamen Close Out With Dunking

The Monarch aquamen completed the season last week with a loss to Grossmont, 67-28. Ban Blocker won the diving event for the Monarchs. Brad Julihn won the 100 butterfly in 1:12.7. The 100 freestyle was won by Dave Sporleder in 1:02.5.

The JV dunked the Foothiller squad though, 58-37. The Monarch freshmen beat Grossmont even more handily, 43-7.

Horsehiders Continue Losing Streak . . . Now 10 Straight

The Monte Vista horseriders have extended their losing streak to ten games with two more losses. Against the Braves of El Cajon last Friday, the Monarchs were scalped, 3-0. Paul Winkler pitched a fine game for the Monarchs, but was supported with just three Monarch hits.

Then against the Sultans of Santana last Tuesday, the Monarchs lost once more, 3-0. Paul Loop pitched a good game for the Monarchy, but was supported by five base hits. The Monarchs will complete the season this Friday.

Backyard Swimming Program Plans Made By San Miguel PTA Group

More than 100 persons were on hand for the San Miguel PTA meeting held last week at the school to hear about the Backyard swimming safety program that will get underway this summer.

Parents of students in the elementary school heard Mrs. Arthur Durson, 2285 E. Pardo, Lemon Grove, Backyard Swimming chairman, explain the program that has been lined up for the youngsters in this area.

Mrs. Durson told the group that registration for the program will be on May 29 starting at 7 p.m. at the San Miguel Auditorium. The program is open to children from 6 years of age to those who are in the sixth grade of school.

Six pools in the Lemon Grove area will be used to accommodate more than 125 participates from this area. All of the pools are being donated for periods of instruction during the summer.

Each pool will have two adult instructors on hand to supervise and train the youngsters in basic water safety and to overcome any fears that they may have toward the water.

Classes will be limited to eight students. It is expected that the program that is in its sixth year will draw more than 15,000 children throughout San Diego County. More than 1,000 instructors will be available for the program.

Pools that will be used locally for the program belong to: Dr. and Mrs. Simon Brumbaugh, 7337 Central; Mr. and Mrs. George LaDam, 2810 Massachusetts; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grove, 7154 Mt. Vernon; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Papike, 7067 Rosemary ln., and Mr. and Mrs. Erskine Garrette, 6678 Mallard, San Diego.

Insructors for the program will be Sandra Downing, Maxine Grove, Barbara Bruce, Martha Healy, Mary Taylor, Judy Harper, Bernadine Sumwault, Effie VanWulven, Virginia Thomas and Gail Durson.

Danish Movie Selected For College Series

Grossmont College has chosen a Danish import for the fifth film in the spring series titled "Man and Woman in Search of Each Other. A dramatic film, "Weekend" is scheduled for screening at 8:30 p.m., tonight, in the Fine Arts Lecture Hall.

"Weekend" is serious in its intent in pointing up the problem of the moral vacuum in the lives of many young couples which often leads to frustration and a joyless search for other sexual outlets.

One hot summer weekend, several families meet at a summer resort. Two of the three couples have children; there are also a bearded bachelor and an adolescent baby-sitter.

With the loosening of inhibitions from over-drinking, they start pairing off. One of the husbands tries to attack the baby-sitter.

Swept by a sense of revulsion at the attempt, the three couples leave the resort to return to their hollow marriages.

The San Francisco Examiner called "Weekend" a stinging, graphic, and quite remarkable drama . . . " It is a powerful and fascinating commentary on sexual boredom, emotional instability, and writhing discontent in three married couples and a bachelor."

The public is invited to view this winner of the Danish Film Critics Best Film Award for 1963. The price of admission is 75 cents at the door.

The last film in the spring series will be the award winning "Nights of Cabiria" directed by Federico Fellini, scheduled for screening at the college on May 23.

Rafferty Charges Kuchel Supports Democratic Party

State School Chief Dr. Max Rafferty opened a statewide political teletype network Tuesday under the acronym RAM (Rafferty Automatic Motion).

In his first RAM release he charged Senator Tom Kuchel with misrepresenting his voting record.

"My point is not whether you agree or disagree with my opponents votes, but that he is now misrepresenting his actions and record to the Republican voters of California.

Rafferty said Kuchel claims to have voted 76 percent of the time with the GOP majority . . . my opponent voted 61 percent of the time in support of President Johnson . . . That's an excellent record for a Democrat . . . but not a Republican whip."

ABC Head Steps Up 'Operation Minus 21'

Edward J. Kirby, director of the State Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control, said his department is stepping up its "Operation Minus 21" campaign.

The program is designed to encourage minors to observe the state's alcoholic beverage laws.

Kirby said the department was in the process of distributing 600,00 copies of a newly-published pamphlet titled "Stop and Think Before You Drink" to high school and junior college students throughout the state.

The pamphlet, he said, spells out the laws which prohibit persons under 21 years of age to possess, purchase or consume alcoholic beverages as well as those provisions which make it unlawful for a minor to possess or use false identification or to furnish alcoholic beverages to other minors.

It also details the possible penalities for violators, including fines, loss of driver's license and decreased employment opportunities.

Rezoning Exchanged For Rright-of-Way

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — Almost seven acres of land in the La Mesa Country Club zoning district was tentatively approved for R-3 zoning by the county planning commission on Friday.

The commission delayed its recommendation to the board of supervisors until applicant H. W. Scharer gives extra right of way from the bordering streets Kenora drive and a Freeway 94 frontage road.

The present zoning is R-2-A, the duplex zone.

The planning staff recommended that the zone change be denied as an intrusion into an otherwise entirely single-family area.

However, a representative of the Great Western Savings and Loan Assn. which plans a 64-acre subdivision on land adjacent to the west said that the company has no objection to the zone shift.

Learn Spanish the Easy Way

Hardison's Telespanish

by James Hardison

Is there a Spanish word which means "I believe?" Yes, there is. "Creo" means "I believe." This word is taken from the word "creer" which means "to believe." Pronunciation of "creo" is made in two syllables, "KREH-oh."

A useful expression which includes "creo" could be "Yo creo que si." which means "I believe so." We may form a negative of this phrase by saying "creo que no" which means "I belive not" or idiomatically, "I think not."

Another word derived from "creer" is "cree." This word may be used with three different subjects — "el (he), "ella" (she), or "usted (you). For example we may say "el cree" for "he believes" or "ella cree" for "she believes." We may also say "ustd cree" for "you believe."

A question may be formed with "cree." To do this, place either of the three verbs before the subject in the sentence. The results would be "Cree usted?" for "Do you believe?" or "Cree el?" for "Does he believe?" Also, "Cree ella?" for "Does she believe?"

Idiomatically "creo" or "cree" may be traslated as "I think" or "you think." Regardless of the way they are translated, they will be beneficial to you Spanish speaking vocabulary ou may practice saying the phrases which contain "creo and "cree" when you dial 276 2762 on your telephone.
